Linking knowledge and tradition . . .

On Saturday, April 14, 1984 the Herman and Louise Smith Library dedication was held in honor of their generous donation to build High Point College a new library. A fundraising project for a new library began in 1981 and in 1982 construction of the new building started. The Herman and Louise Smith Library was completed in the summer of 1983. In February 1984 a human chain consisting of students, faculty, and alumni helped move the books from the old library into the new. This monumental task was accomplished in twelve hours. This new library is a wonderful addition to the High Point College campus and the Zenith staff would like to make a special dedication to the heart of the institution — the library.

Research is much less hectic in the new library •

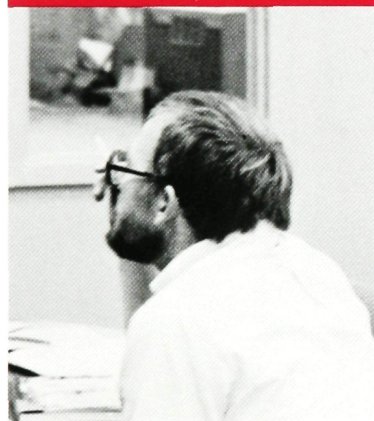

Meetings are much relaxed due to the quietness and comfort in the new library ●

Much more study space is available in this new library ●

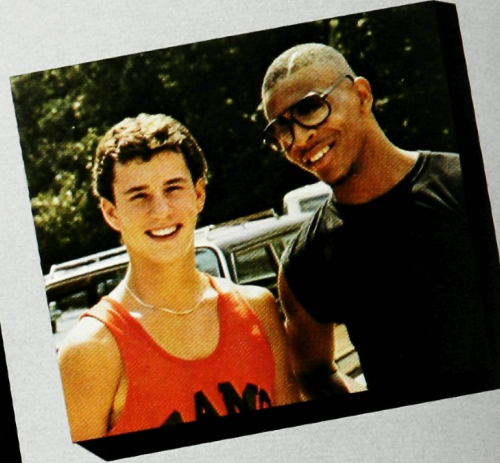

Tom Gaughn, library director, has put much thought into making this a great library ●

From

Flowers To Friends

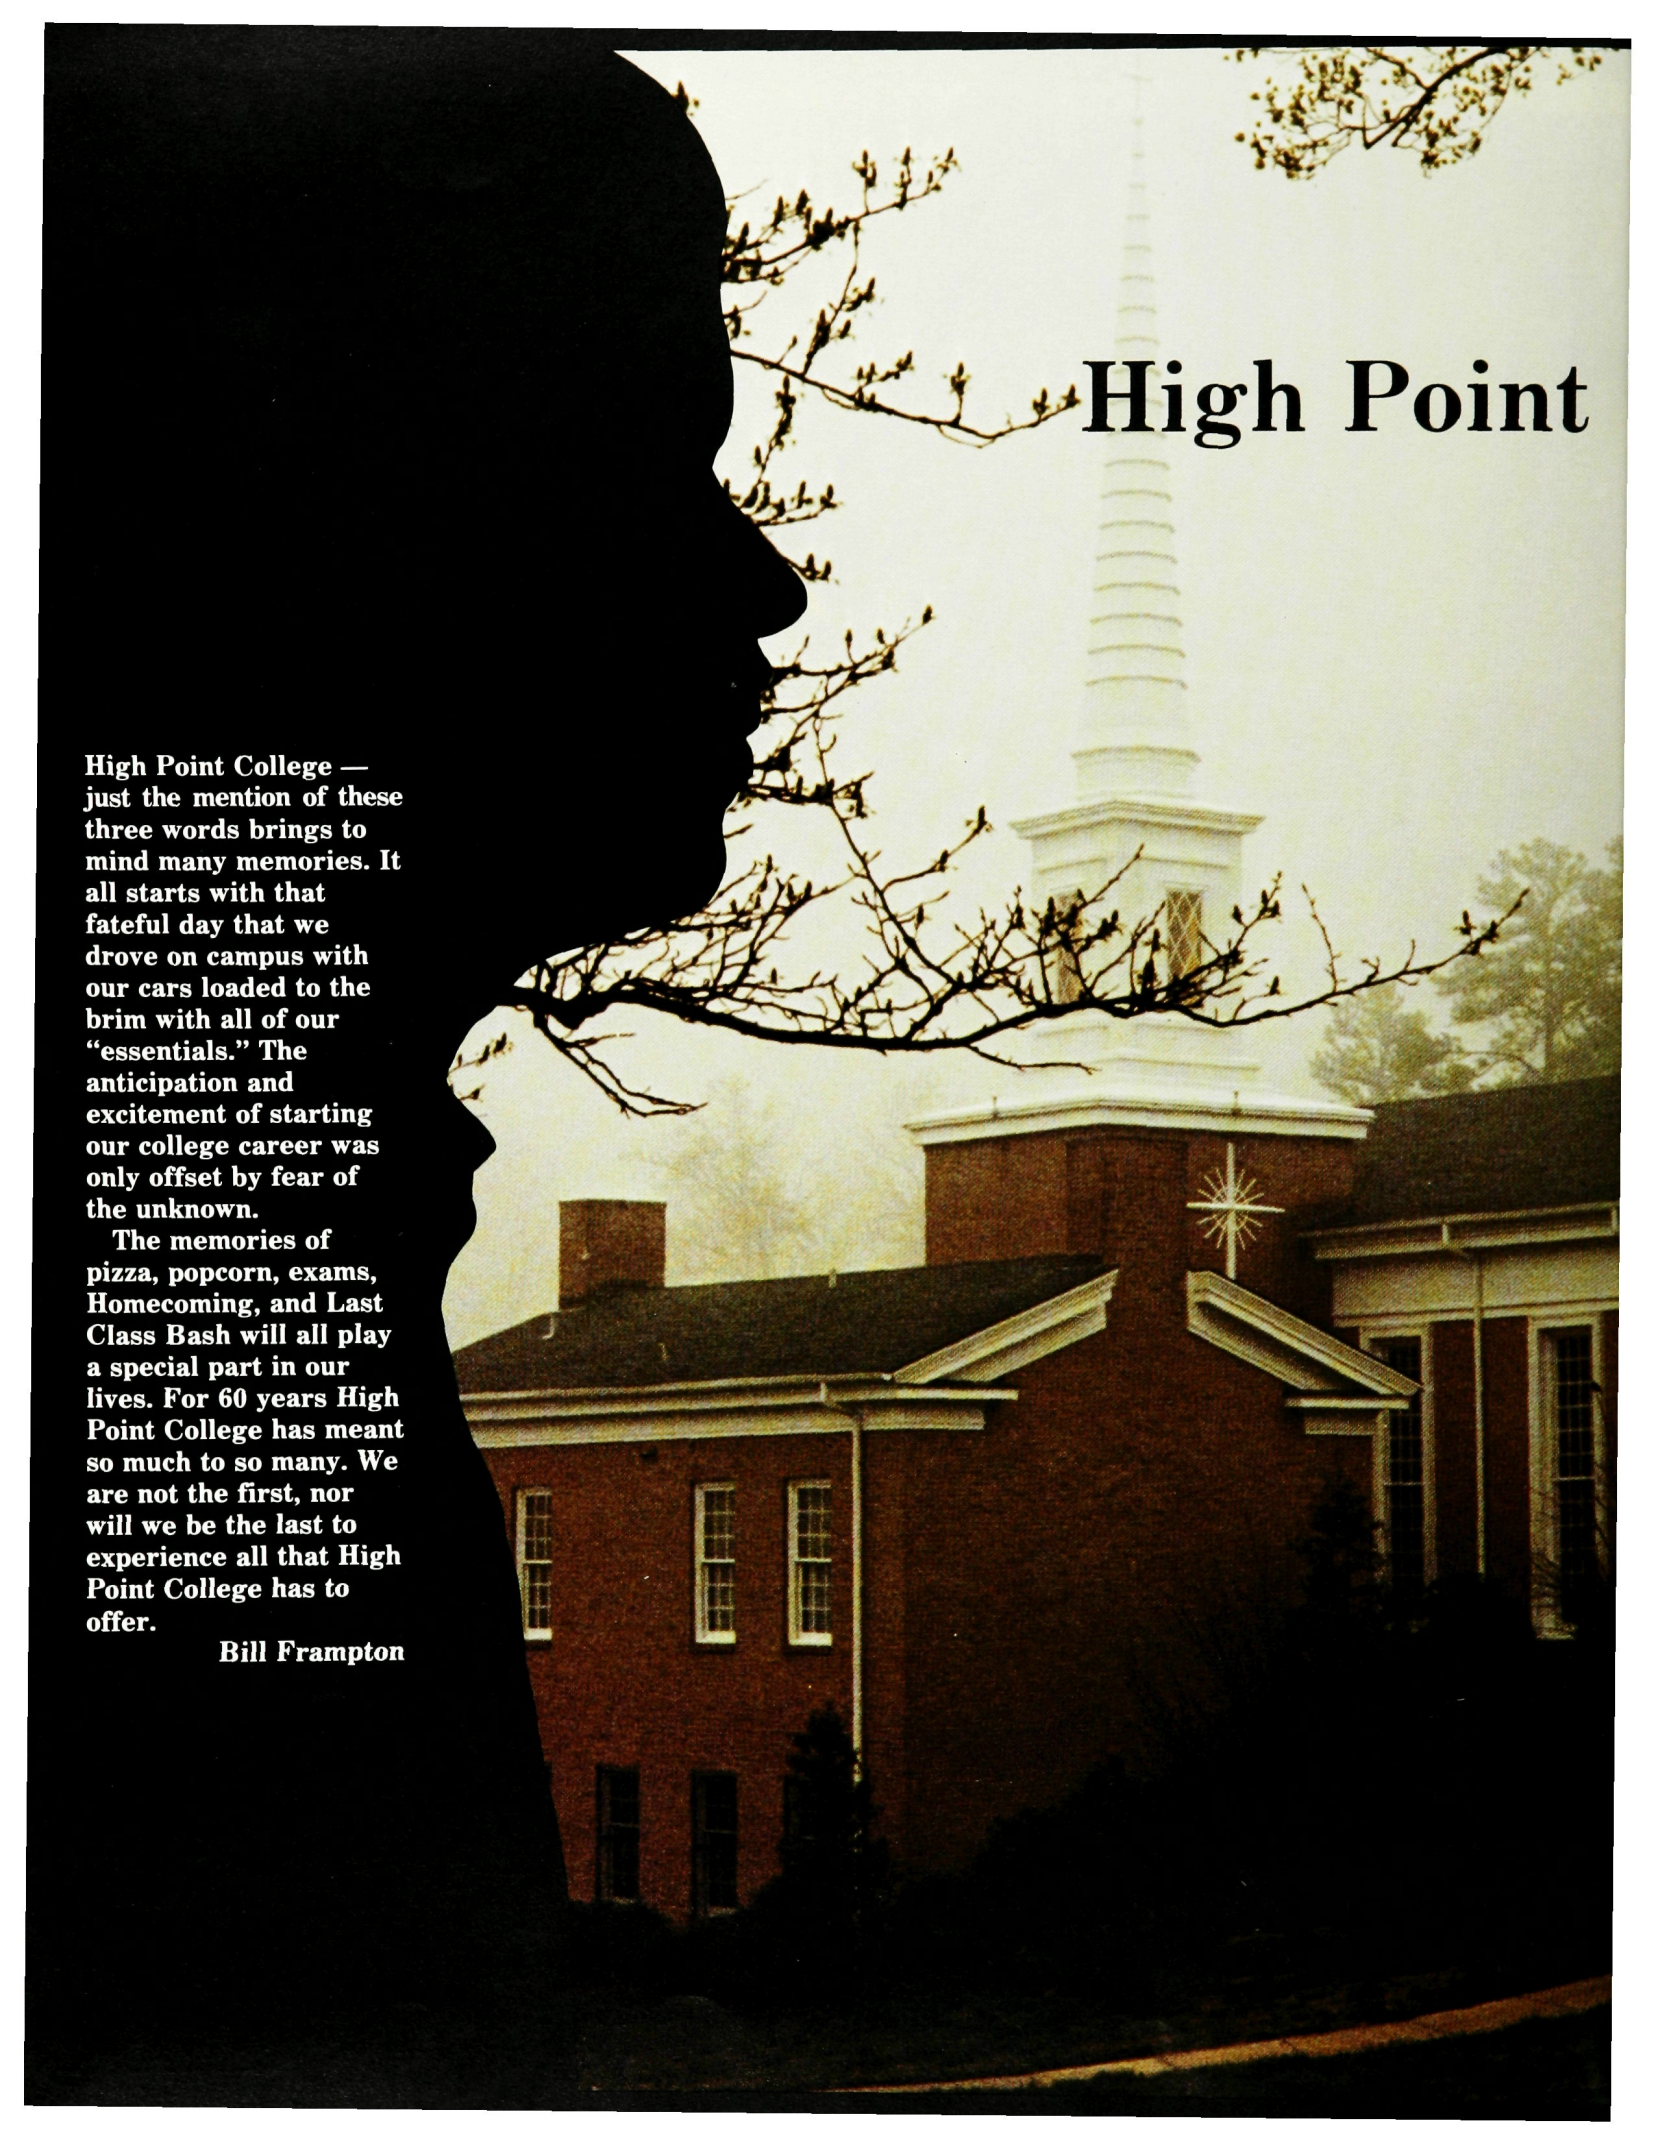

Lifestyles . . .

High Point College has a wide diversity of people and personalities. The amount of time available for social interaction is almost endless. From the sorting of mail to the walks to and from class.

We are blessed with having a small, beautiful campus and friends to share it with us. The traumas of academics are often discussed over cheeseburgers. The prospects of Friday and Saturday nights are only offset by the reality of tests on Monday morning

High Point

High Point College — just the mention of these three words brings to mind many memories. It all starts with that fateful day that we drove on campus with our cars loaded to the brim with all of our “essentials.” The anticipation and excitement of starting our college career was only offset by fear of the unknown.

The memories of pizza, popcorn, exams, Homecoming, and Last Class Bash will all play a special part in our lives. For 60 years High Point College has meant so much to so many. We are not the first, nor will we be the last to experience all that High Point College has to offer.

Bill Frampton

is Communication

Now the Class of 1985 prepares itself for the uncertainty of the future. For some, High Point is but a stepping stone, for others High Point signifies the end to years of education. Whether continuing on in school or entering the job market that seemingly unattainable college diploma is now a reality.

As the seniors graduate tears of joy and as well as sadness will be shed. Proud parents will take pictures and take proud in their children's accomplishments. The story doesn't end here because the Class of 1985 is turning but another page in the book of High Point College, and the legacy continues.

High Point College College athletes offered much excitement for supporters this year. How could we forget Pete Cockburn scoring goals, Susie Rarirez's 25 foot jump shots, Andy Young's dunks, John Carty's base hits, Pekka Makela's ace serves, Phil Krimminger's par tournaments, Teresa Sweatman's backhands and Cynthia Ismael's jump serves?

Blood, sweat and tears, hard work and dedication describes the athletes at HPC. Some victories, some defeats, but overall a positive year for HPC's athletes.

Bobby Rapp pulls down a rebound during an "A" league game

High Point College had a strong intramural program thanks to many spirited participants and good leadership from John Carty, Lynn Fortaleza, and Bobby Rapp. The Delta Sigma Phi's captured the championship in ultimate frisbee and soccer. The Zeta Tau Alpha's won the women's soccer league.

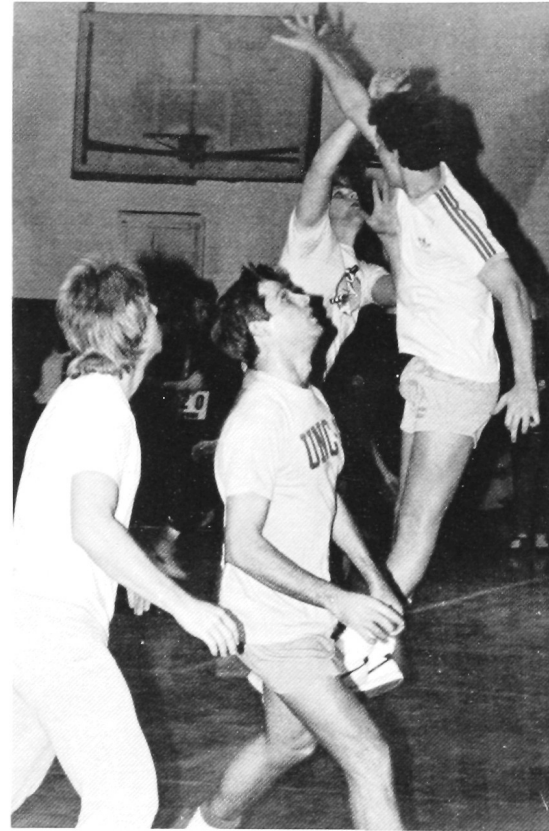

Ted Sonnenberg has an easy lay-up as referee David Hooker looks on.

George England drives to the basket.

"B" league action. Kevin Noon passes the ball, Greg Pribble and Bob Rossi defend.

Independent teams dominated the men's "A" and "B" leagues. The women's leaders were the independents. Zeta's were a close second with "Ebony Rose" placing third. Nu Delta Beta, Fraticides, and Crawford's Court battled for first in "B" league.

The four classes at HPC represent four unique types of people. To the Freshman, college is a new experience to which they find the infamous HPC cheeseburger to be great.

The Sophomore class represents seasoned freshmen back for a second year. They have caught on to the routine and their rating of the cheeseburger falls to OK.

The Junior Class is full of anticipation. Waiting for that forever cherished class ring, plus, the rite of passage to Seniordom. Juniors find cheeseburgers boring and resort to soup and salad.

Seniors have a lot to think about. First, they wonder how the first three years of college went by so quickly. Secondly, they look towards graduation with fear and gladness. Fear of the unknown after May 5th and gladness that four years of formal academic training are miraculously completed. The third thing the Senior ponders as if they have enough money to call Domino's instead of having cheeseburgers again.

Being a Freshman

College is an important and challenging step in one's life. During the first few weeks on campus I experienced many exciting, scary, and trying times, anticipating adjustment being much harder than it really was. I was afraid I would never make it through Orientation, but I did, and it helped me enormously. I met many congenial people and became accustomed to the new environment through these Orientation meetings. My Orientation leader, Dr. Ward, and other professors were helpful in answering any questions that arose.

Living near High Point College has been an asset to me, however, the friendliness of the people on campus would have made college easy for anyone. I have enjoyed my first year at High Point College and will be looking forward to living on campus.

Looking at the body of the college, the classes are the organs and the organizations its spiritual essence. Some groups function as regulators pumping vital fluids and others operate as obedient servants working to help and assist.

Each precludes sacrifice on the part of its members in time and energies growing out of dedication and self-satisfaction which quite often is the only reward. Each human segment earns the admiration of our entire community because of the selfless contributions and earned honors.

The creative talents, collectively and individually, display themselves in works that enrich the human state and sensitize us to the beautiful in life. The liberal arts experience is fed by each of these groups.

“Who Seconds the Motion?”

Student Government Association

At its Bi-weekly meetings SGA considered bills dealing with the allocation of money, Ethics code, Revisions, and the purchase of material goods. The best component of the Student Government Association was the fact that the people who were there cared enough about the school and their respective organization or class to vote in good consciousness.

WWIH . . . Your road to rock

Craig Vansteenbergh managed WWIH during 1984-1985.

WWIH is an educational FM station that serves the student population on the campus as well as the High Point Community. The station presently operates at 10 watts with an expected increase to over 100 watts in the near future. WWIH is designed to give students on the job experience in the field of radio broadcasting, especially announcing, production, and operations. The station itself is located in the tower of Roberts Hall and is run entirely by students at High Point College. Most of the students working at WWIH are communications majors, although this is not required. Many of those who have worked at the station have graduated and are now employed in radio broadcasting. The announcers choose the music that is to be played on WWIH keeping in mind the stations format of AOR (Album Oriented Rock). This does not apply to the shows on Friday and Saturday which have been reserved for Soul music. All in all, WWIH is the best way a student at High Point College can gain experience in the radio industry.

Freshman Orientation

Henry the Eighth and Joseph Conrad Collect Heads for all Seasons

Those "paws" were the "core" of the Orientation Program. "Paws" as in dependability were the big sisters and brothers of the program and carried out what was the substance in the sessions, "How to Survive Registration" and college in general.

The earliest meetings were social in make-up but the academic sessions became involved in note-taking, study procedures, time management, and how to use the library. Appreciation was extended to all the core committee members and each paw for the time and interest in making the program work.

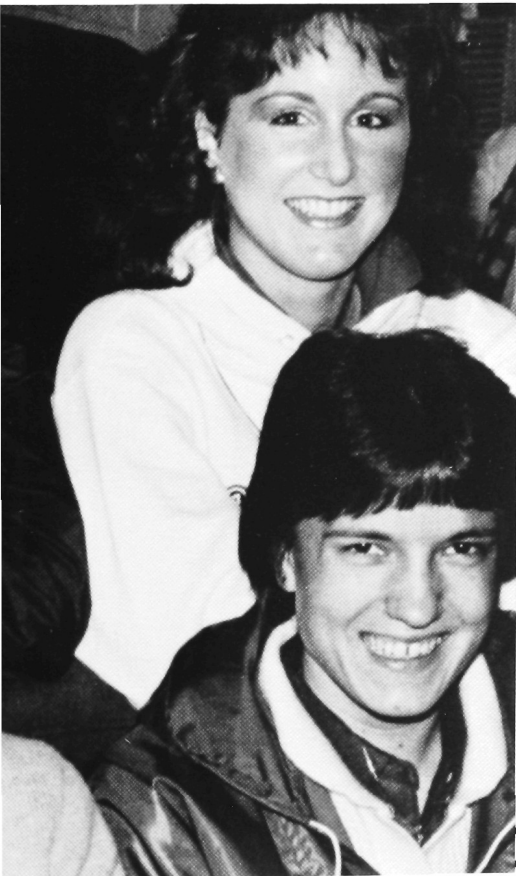

Art Payne, Rev. Ben Curry, and Mrs. Busch were Orientation Leaders.

Presidential Scholars

Presidential Scholarships are awarded to selected incoming Freshmen. The Basis by which these students have been selected is dependant on their high school activities and personal interviews that are conducted by faculty and present scholars. The scholarships, valued from four thousand to six thousand dollars over a four year period are based on academics, leadership, and citizenship. The chosen scholars must maintain a 3.0 grade point average and serve on selected committees. These committees run the annual Presidential Scholarships weekend to which certain high school students from around the country are invited to visit High Point College.

CYCLIC RECURRENCES ZENITH

Spring of 1984 saw the staff of the Zenith busy at work photographically recording the events happening late in the school year and never appearing on the pages of the yearbook.

Correcting this omission, our capable and talented Editor-in-Chief, Melissa Mize, planned the 1985 Zenith to include that time of year when college activities, as well as nature, spurt into the season of re-birth giving eternal hope a shot of adrenaline.

The March winds shook the roots of aspirations; April dawned with primordial mists; and May celebrated fruition. The time honored and dependable pattern of nature was reflected in rose buds, mortarboards, and exciting plans. Everything accelerated with the singing of the birds catapulting us into the new academic year.

The Zenith staff views 1985 as the year of the flowers, radial in design and cyclic in growth.

Michael Roberts, editor-in-chief, worked many late hours and often stayed up all night long to see that HPC received an edition of the Hi-Po six times first semester. With the help of Carolyn Binkly, assistant editor, the Hi-Po staff strived to better inform our campus.

"God Bless Us Everyone"

December 6-9 in the Memorial Auditorium rang once more with the Christmas "Spirits" of HPC's third year (and last for a while), of Leslie Bricusse's "Scrooge". The performance is a musical adaptation of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. However, a new director, Ron Law, and an able and talented group of HPC students and townspeople brought a new life to the production despite the difficulties of little rehearsal time and scarce funds.

Paul Lundrigan assumed his traditional role as Ebenezer Scrooge and Bob Erden, for his second year, played the crippled Tiny Tim. But that's where the similarities ended.

Alpha Chi Honor Society

Alpha Chi is an honor society which recognizes outstanding juniors and seniors. Members are selected annually, and the formal induction ceremony is held yearly. Students are judged on scholarship, character, leadership, and service. Each of these areas must reflect dedication to the school. The purpose of Alpha Chi is to recognize and encourage outstanding scholarship on the High Point College campus.

Left to Right: Bill Cotham, Treasurer; Charlene McDaniel, Secretary; Teresa Sweatman, Vice-President; Jennifer Bartholomew, President; Art Payne, Delegate.

College Bowl is sponsored by Alpha Chi each year. College Bowl is a question-and-answer game played between two teams made up of four players each. Points are scored by correct answers to questions asked by the moderator. College Bowl begins with a "Round Robin" of all teams taking turns playing one another. After this, elimination playoffs are held to determine the year's new champion.

Jane Bowser, Stan Taylor and Bill Cotham agree with Art Payne's answer.

Charlene McDaniel, Jane Bowser, Teresa Sweatman and Bill Cotham await Jennifer's okay to play.

Campus Gold At HPC

High Point College has seen significant changes and signs of growth over the past few years. One of the changes took place with the installation of a new club on our campus, Campus Gold, a coed service organization aligned with Girl Scouts of America whose members are dedicated to the assisting of young girls and their growth. The expansion of their horizons is brought about through a program of camping, education, various cultural trips, and numerous activities to increase life's pleasure and beauty. These experiences heighten their awareness of themselves.

Bowling Club

Pins and Points to Spare in the Alley League Tournament is the goal but the accumulation of points is the real competition for the club made up of High Point College students. It is organized into four sections of members. Each group earns points that grow until a five week period is over and the four top bowlers have a roll-off with 4th place bowling the 3rd place, winner of match bowling 2nd, on and on until a first place winner is proclaimed the winner of the league.

Our super coach is bookstore staff member, Gerry Hill, who gains as much pleasure from her team's trophies as the top bowlers.

GREEKS. This one word holds more meaning than any one person can explain. There is so much more to being a Greek than what is viewed on the surface. The endless days at the Rail; the car-washes; the Greek games, the parties and dances are all quite fun and memorable. But the heart of all Greeks lies deeper than these simple surface activities. The following pages may help you to understand and more fully enjoy these endless relationships.

KAPPA DELTA

The Kappa Deltas started the year off in great form with our largest and one of the best pledge classes in our recent history — 26 super girls!!

Then on to preparing for and celebrating our 30th year at HPC! We also participated this year in our bi-annual Rock-a-thon for our local philanthropy, The American Heart Association.

Many new bonds were formed and even more old bonds were tightened as the sisters and pledges pulled each other through their everyday ups and downs.

As each day passes our colors of green and white grow to hold more meaning as we look back at a year gone by too quickly, but look forward to the beach and many more good times!

Alpha Delta Theta

Alpha Delta Theta was founded in 1954 as a continuation of the religious education majors club. ADT is now a sorority with the motto "Sisters in the service of God." We are a sisterhood that tries to promote Christian faith and fellowship. We do many different service projects throughout the year as well as our social activities. We have adopted grandparents at the area resthome, and we help out with different campus and community events. Some of the service projects we have done are donations to the children's fund, and donations to the Rainbow House in Winston-Salem. We also do fund raisers for UNICEF and many other similar charities. We also help with mailings for admissions and Parents Weekend for the Alumni Office. Through these projects and other activities we have grown together and shared our Christian fellowship and service throughout the campus and community.

We plan to visit the children at the Mills Home Orphanage with the Alpha Gamma Deltas and having a successful "Bong Show" with the proceeds going to Easter Seals.

On May 15, 1954, Delta Alpha Epsilon was formally installed as Iota Phi Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha at HPC.

This year we associated 16

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is the largest National Co-ed Service Fraternity which is located on 623 campuses across the nation. APO, founded in 1925 at Lafayette College, is based on the principles of the Boy Scouts of America. The three principles that govern APO are leadership, friendship, and service. Leadership opportunities arise through participation in group interaction, and holding chapter offices. These opportunities provide lifelong impact. Friendships made through APO are rewarding, life long, and an enriching part of campus life. The strong ties that are formed can be seen in our Big and Little Brother Program. Yet, the most unique aspect of the fraternity is its service program.

We kicked off our service program with the making of student ID's. Other on going projects are as follows: helping at the Alumn Picnic, distributing the HiPo, proving a campus book exchange, painting panther paws, sponsoring two successful Red Cross Bloodmobiles, and campus clean up.

Our services did not stop on campus, APO involvement extended far and wide: a City Lake Carnival, assisting with the YWCA adaptive aquatice, working closely with urban ministries on a food drive and cheese distributions, voluntary Day at the Park, forming Pet Therapy Sessions at Evergreen Resting Home, helping to restore the High Point Environmental Center, and so much more. Our services proved to be successful in aiding various charities and human service agencies especially the Boy Scouts, Big Brother/Big Sisters, and the High Point Jaycees.

It was our biggest aim this year, and all years to follow, to set an example of unselfish giving and to continue our "people helping people" program to make this world a little brighter!

The Columned Porch Speaks Sweetly
Three score and personalities galore make up our college's lifetime of recollections.
"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow creeps in its petty pace from day to day" but yesterdays are fresh in the minds of the old. Changes, the history of experience, clip past like a television review on the establishing and preserving of traditions.
"When from these halls we must depart,
Nurtured in each grateful heart

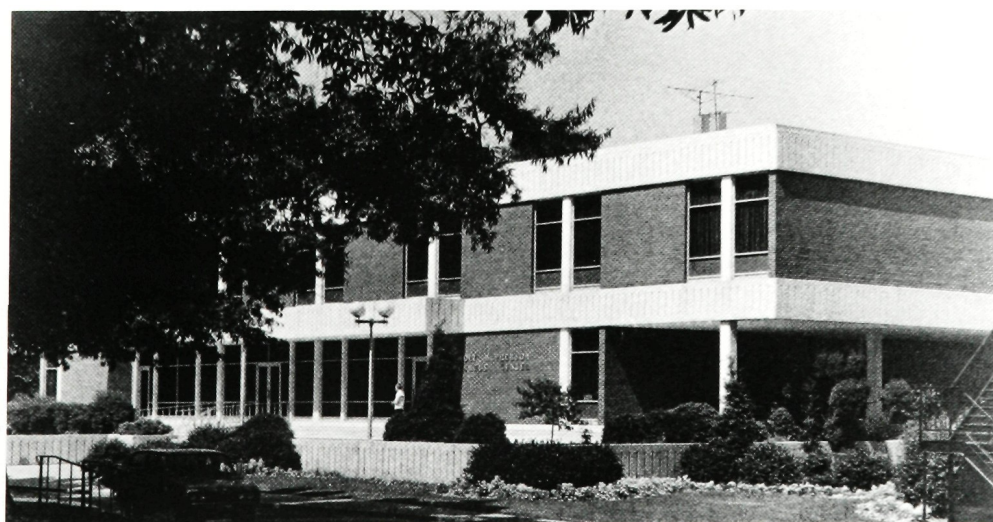

Will be the warmth of friendly days
 Enjoyed along the pathways.
 When on our ears thy name shall fall,
 It will be a herald trumpet's call
 To hail thee college, queen of all,
 Oh well-loved Alma Mater.
 The mind's eye sees the campus green,
 The mind's ear hears a sound serene-
 A cherished hymn from bell tower rings:
 Remembered be thy blessings.
 Throughout our lives in accents clear
 The cords of memory draw us near
 To sing again a song sincere
 In praise of Alma Mater."

CAREER ALUMNI DAY

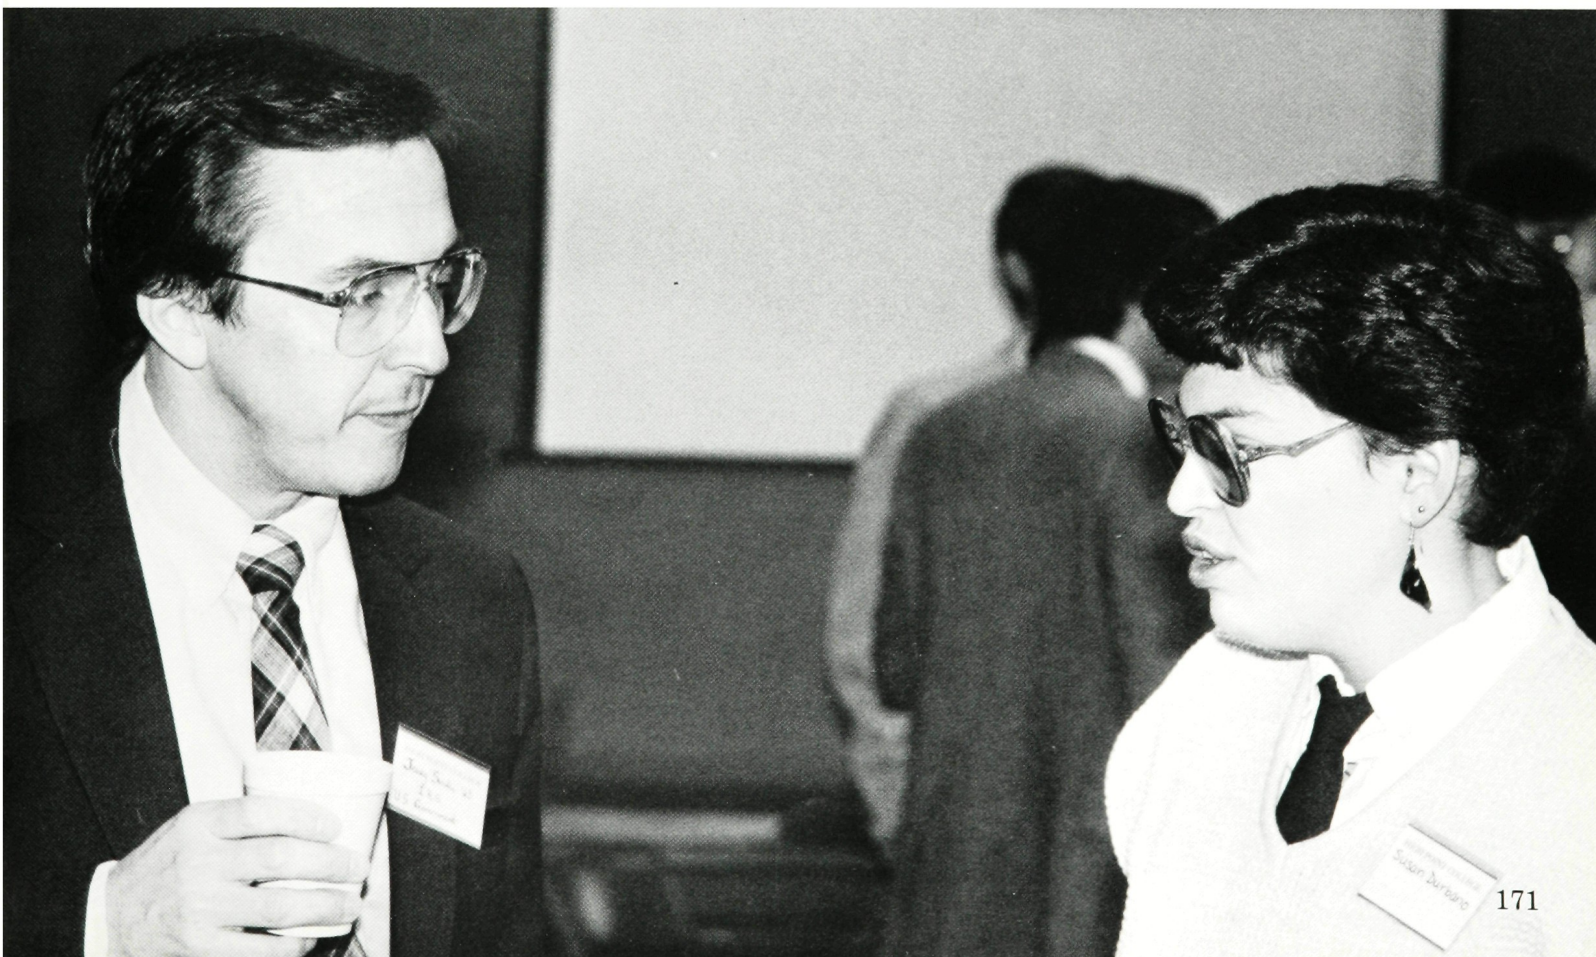

HPC Alumni advise students

Students at High Point found that Alumni are a valuable source of information and help on career choices at Career Alumni Day. People in fields ranging from city government to hotel management shared their experiences with High Pointers.

Over 200 students came to the Campus Center to listen as alumni and guests talked about their own jobs as well as the other jobs in their chosen fields. Twenty-nine different career fields were represented so that the students would have a wide range of choices.

One of the beneficial results of the day was the number of personal contacts and valuable advice the students received.

College President Charles Lucht, Tom Gray, Leonard Kaplan and Joyce Wainer were among those participating in the Career Alumni Day.

Pathways

as we discover ourselves

Producing a yearbook to please everyone is an impossible task. We have tried in this edition of the Zenith to cover all social and academic activities which portray life at High Point College. No one knows how much work goes into planning and producing a yearbook until the work begins. Then it seems as though the more work one does the more there is to be done. I would like to thank everyone who contributed to the production of this book and hope that everyone enjoys the memories.

Melissa Mize
Editor-in-Chief

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It then presents a literature review of the existing research on the topic. The methodology section describes the research design and the data collection process. The results section presents the findings of the study, and the conclusion section summarizes the main points and provides recommendations for future research.

The study was conducted using a quantitative research design. Data was collected from a sample of 100 participants. The results show that there is a significant positive correlation between the variables studied. The findings suggest that the proposed model is valid and can be used to predict the outcome of the study.

The study has several limitations. First, the sample size was relatively small, which may affect the generalizability of the findings. Second, the study was conducted in a controlled environment, which may not reflect real-world conditions. Finally, the study did not include a longitudinal design, which would have allowed for the observation of changes over time.

Despite these limitations, the study provides valuable insights into the relationship between the variables studied. The findings have implications for both theory and practice. Future research should aim to address the limitations of this study and explore the relationship between the variables in more detail.
